Elk Point presents First Night Fest

Have you had your fill of parties long before New Year's Eve, but just wouldn't feel right about just ignoring the occasion? Or maybe, in this International Year of the Family, you would really prefer to spend the occasion with your family, rather than a group of over-boisterous acquaintances. In that case, the Elk Point First Night Fest is for you.

Elk Point will be bustling with activity on December 31, with a full range of family activities scheduled, from the beginning of the program at Elk Point Public Library at 11 a.m. to the final burst of fireworks after 8:30 p.m. And almost everything is absolutely FREE.

Children can make their own books at the library (11 a.m. - 3 p.m.) and enjoy a hot dog lunch (12 noon) while being entertained at two puppet shows (12:00 noon and 12:30 p.m.) by puppeteers Judith and Tom Valleau.

From 1:00 to 4:00 p.m., there is free family riding at the Agricultural Society Riding Arena - BYOH (bring your own horse), and from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m., everyone is invited to visit the residents of Elk Point Municipal Hospital and Parkview Extended Care. Refreshments will be served and the 4-H Club will present a skit at 4:00 p.m. at Parkview.

From 3:00 to 5:00 p.m. is curling time—whether the floor or ice variety. Everyone is invited to both the Elk Point Seniors' Recreation Centre or the Elk Point Curling Club for family curling challenges, and free curling - come on down and try out the sport with your family, or get some practice in for the upcoming bonspiels.

At 5:00 p.m. the action moves to the A. G. Ross

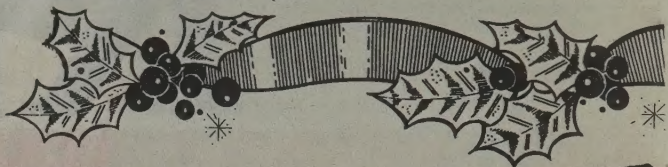

Arena, where you can take part in Family Skating (5:00 to 8:00 p.m.), enjoy refreshments from the food booths (5:00 to 8:00 p.m.) and be entertained by a series of local talent: Ukrainian Dance Club (5:00 to 5:30 p.m.), Karate workshop with audience participation (5:30 to 6:30 p.m.), storytelling by John Drobot (6:30 p.m.), author readings by Irene Magnusson (7:00 p.m.), plus music and song by Gabe Bayduza, Franklin Wolters, Rick Peters, Marge Heffernan and more (7:00 to 7:45 p.m.). Rilla Higgins will be on hand from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. to take inexpensive family photos (two 5x7 pictures for $5.35).

The evening concludes with guest speakers Tori Warawa and Jim MacLellan at 7:45 p.m., before everyone troops outdoors for the International Year of the Family's Fireworks Finale at 8:30 p.m., courtesy of generous corporate donors.

For more information, contact Rick Peters (943-3915) or Margaret Modin (724-3605).

Our Thanks

and Best Wishes

We would like to take this opportunity to express our thanks to all of the people from this great community and surrounding area for supporting our business over the past 11 years. It truly was an honor and our pleasure to have served you.

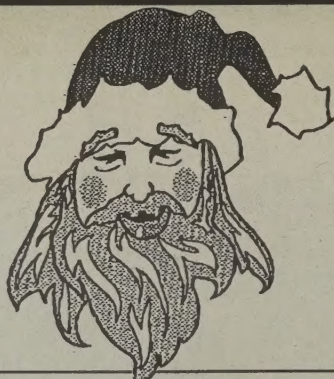

A great many working relations and friendships have developed, creating memories of which, we shall reminisce and cherish for years to come.

Our warmest wishes to you and your families for a Very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Sincerely,

Tony and Yvette Bochon

FCSS News

Let's talk about Christmas

Stress and fatigue among women at Christmas time are as common as mistletoe and mince pies.

* Take a critical look at the way you're preparing for the festive season. Perhaps you're trying to do too much or trying to do everything letter-perfect. These impossible objectives can only lead to failure and frustration, which, in turn, cause stress. Set more realistic goals. The world won't come to an end and your family will enjoy Christmas just as much.

* Instead of worrying and fretting about the 100 things you have to do, control the situation: list the projects in order of priority and tackle them one at a time.

* Don't work yourself into a frazzle. Take a break for a few hours or even for 30 minutes. Go somewhere where it is peaceful. Sit in your room listening to your favorite music, take a walk in the snow in a nearby park or sit in the hushed silence of a church. You'll be surprised how much better you'll feel.

* If preparing for Christmas is proving to be too much of a hassle, don't suffer in silence. Share your problems with your husband and kids, and maybe a close friend. Letting off steam reduces tension and involving the whole family in holiday preparation can make it more meaningful and enjoyable for all.

Acquire skills in one or more techniques to control and reduce stress. Learning stress control serves you well not only during the holiday season but also all year round. Happy holidays!

CHRISTMAS HOURS

FCSS will be closed from December 19 to January 3. Please leave any messages on our answering machine (724-3800) or at Town Office. A heartfelt thank you to the community and all the volunteers for their time, effort and support throughout the year. We could not do it without you. We wish you a gentle season of happiness, health and peace.

Revised Extended Health Benefits Program For Seniors

EFFECTIVE

JAN. 1, 1995

Alberta is the only province in Canada that provides a combined optical and dental benefit program for seniors.

The revised Extended Health Benefits program will continue to cover:

- many standard dental services; and
- a portion of the cost of eyeglasses.

A brochure with program details will be mailed to all seniors in January.

An assembly of parents

By S. D. Milholland

'Twas the night before Christmas
And under the tree
Not a creature was stirring
But my husband and me.

The children were nestled,
Each snug in her bed,
With plans of arising
At five. (So they said).

And I, with my ratchet,
My spouse, with his pliers,
Were assembling two wagons,
(Bright shiny red Flyers).

Plus a train for the one
And a bike for the other -

(Merry Christmas, you girls
From your Dad and your Mother).

And in the next room
Stood a very large box
That was shipped to our home
From some Japanese docks.

In the crate, a farm -
With buildings and trees,
Horses, fences and cattle.
(Some assembling, please).

The clock had struck two,
Before the wagons were done,
And the train and the bike
Would give hours of fun.

If we could manage to Fit "C" nut to "A" arm,
And finish, with time left
To assemble the farm.

So we bent to our work
And we sweated some more
While the clock on the wall
Struck off two, three and four.

Then we found to our horror,
While on bended knees,
Instructions for the farm
Were in Japanese.

As promised, at five
The children awoke
And admired their gifts.
But then they both spoke.

"Something is missing!" they said.
Well, I very much fear
That as for the farm
They'll get it next year.

The PTA and I
Will never, never agree -
An assembly of parents
Means something different to me.

SANTA COMES TO THE LIBRARY - Santa Claus was a jolly special guest at Elk Point Municipal Library's Christmas Storytime Party last Friday, and handed out souvenirs and candy canes to everyone. The party also featured guest story teller Irene Magnusson, songs and pinatas.

Deep into December

By Irene Magnusson

We are deep into December when snow lies all about -
When the late sun skims the treetops with a golden frosted shout.

When the chickadee and blue jay cluster round the feeding bowl -
And our footsteps on the walkway creak and grind the crispy cold.

When night comes down upon us with our day's work but half done -
And the secrets in the cupboards say we're on the Christmas run...

Oh, we're deep into December when the moon rides white and high -
With regrets, yet with a jingle, call Goodbye, Old Year, goodbye!

The Family Forum

By Jim MacLellan

The Premier's Council in Support of Alberta Families conducted forums throughout our province with over 3000 participants. They found that Albertans care deeply about "The importance of family well-being." The overall consensus was:

- that people were uneasy that rights and responsibilities are out of balance;
- that there is more emphasis needed on choice and consequences;
- that rights cannot exist without responsibilities; and
- that there is too much emphasis on rights of individuals and special groups to detriment of societal, community and family well-being.

I found that very, very interesting. There seems to be a very vocal "elite" that keeps pumping us on issues which seem to claim more and more rights. Spouses have the right to flee their responsibilities. Children have the right to disobey parents. People have the right to do wrong. Everyone has rights! Albertans are saying, "Whoa, cowboys!" Now that Albertans are responding to this smorgasbord of rights for this and rights for that, let's take a close look at just what devious ploys are being used to give "rights" and take "freedoms." (Had you thought of that before?)

William D. Gairdner, in "The War Against the Family," 1992, helps us understand this inventive and insidious plan to steal your freedom. Please believe me that this is serious, it's real; and it's true. Here are 3 steps or stages that "someone" engaged in robbing your liberty is going through. They are:

#1. Divorcing Rights From Duties: Albertans have smelled that rat. But they haven't yet given it a name. You see, the first thing that is necessary is to attack morality. As soon as you remove "right and wrong," you are left with two choices. Either we are ALL good or ALL bad. The former seems more appealing. Since we are all basically good, it becomes inhuman for me or another to suggest otherwise. And seeing we are all basically good, your choices are just as valid as mine. And seeing your choices cannot be challenged, I cannot hold you accountable / responsible for the "wrong" you do to do to me. Wake up, Alberta - there is right and wrong!

#2. Legislate Equality. In less than 20 years, Canada has gone from minimal legislation on "rights" to a country that has 10 provincial tribunals on rights, a federal Human Rights Act, and entrenched Charter of Rights, etc., etc. You see the paradox? When everyone is "good" and everyone's actions are as right as yours, suddenly we need a huge parental bureaucracy. Guess who pays for that and how? That's right, you do through your taxes! Since the days of Joseph in Egypt, mankind has used taxes to keep people enslaved... not free!

#3. Eliminate Differences. As I've written before, this theory of egalitarianism is beautiful! It sounds so great! It sounds a lot like we are all equal! But egalitarianism goes beyond that - it means we are all the same. It's communism to the core. Just this week the Canadian government is organizing a policing committee to ensure that employers hire consistently with the demographics of Canada. As one astute politician put it, "Merit and qualifications don't count anymore." There are lots of people (usually products of the 1950s and '60s) that have their dizzy heads in the clouds and think we are all the same. We are not!

Albertans are awakening to the problem. Have we awakened to the plot? Here is only one way to ensure your rights and freedoms: that is to have a clear code of right and wrong; to ensure a fair but demanding punishment for violating that code; and to reward people on their merit, their qualifications and their moral citizenship.

Bantam Provincials at Elk Point March 17 - 19/95

By Doug Callbeck

President,
Elk Point Minor Hockey

Elk Point has been chosen once again to host a provincial tournament by the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association. Elk Point applied for Bantam or Atom level provincials and was chosen for Bantam.

It is a great honor to hold such a prestigious event and the work has already begun. A kick-off meeting was held in the Horizon Room at the A. G. Ross Arena on December 13, 1994.

Chairpeople have been chosen to head each committee. Pat Flett is heading all committees with Sue Campbell being Secretary and Yvette Bochon as treasurer.

The chairpeople will be looking for volunteers to help work with each committee. The committees are as follows: Ways & Means, Program, Door, Banquet and Breakfast, Information Package, Public Relations, Decorating, Opening Ceremonies, Facilities, Health and Safety, Officiating, Off-ice Officials, Tournament Disciplinary and the 50/50 Draw Committee. There is a need for volunteers to work with these committees to help make this a huge success. Our next meeting is Tuesday, January 10, 1995 at the A. G. Ross Arena. Everyone welcome.

Home is where the heart is

By Irene Magnusson

This is the time, these last few days before Christmas - and on through the week to New Year's Day - when, all over our country - perhaps all over the world - people are travelling. Some are going away to visit, some for holidays in the southern sun, some on business. But mostly they are going home for Christmas.

How wonderful to go home! To return to our parents' home, to bring the little ones and show them where and how Christmas is marked in our family! Many of us have added new traditions, as affluence or inclinations allow. No matter - we will believe and feel we have always followed these traditions.

As parents age, the 'home' we return to may be a sister's or brother's, or the home of our grown children. Perhaps we will share with other relatives, or dear friends. Wherever it is, or whoever lives there - we are going "home" for Christmas."

As the year draws to a close, in all the media events of the past year will be dredged up, rehased and relived by countless writers and storytellers. Which is nice... I think. Events will be resettled in our minds. But I don not wish to add my two cents worth to the reruns. I prefer to look ahead, to greet the New Year with a welcoming grin, to accept the challenge of the coming days.

Winter has been mild, in our area, so far this fall. Perhaps it will be quite the opposite in the coming weeks. That may be hard to take. Still, we may count among our blessings that we had good days in early winter.

I'm not sure what other things, from the elements, we may rejoice in - unless we have more snow (and NO rain just now). Snow is good for skiing, but especially useful to replenish the waters in our lakes, sloughs and streams, to grow our gardens, grass and crops in the coming year - and just look at all the good healthful exercise we will get, shoveling our sidewalks!

As we face the coming New Year, we make think of resolutions: if, so far, we have managed to drink-and-drive - and haven't yet smashed up ourselves or anyone else - why, here is a brand new opportunity to not do it.

And I can't think of a better New Year's Resolution than to determine to Buckle Up each and every time we get in the vehicle. Just think - we may outwit the statistics, and stay alive until next Christmas.

Add a "Stop Smoking" resolution to your New Year's list - and keep it - and you may add a lot more year's to celebrate, more enjoyment of them, plus a lot more dollars in your pocket. To say nothing of endearing yourself to the non-smokers around you.

Perhaps we could accept our lot from governments, who, on the one hand, we berate for over-spending... and on the other, we whine and moan when they try to cut down on some costly program we want to keep. I am not yet convinced that "The world owes me a living," whether I try to look after myself or not.

I hope, in this coming new year of 1995, that we (including myself) will try to speak a bit more kindly to our fellow man, to be quicker to forgive and slower to blame - and sometimes think how it would feel to work in his shoes.

I wish you all a happy and contented New Year; that at least one of your dreams will come true.

This is the place - Kossey's Place

In this International Year of the Family, another new family business has started in Elk Point. Two of the partners are themselves a new family - Shane and Melanie Kossey got married this past summer, and have now been joined by Shane's brother Ian in opening Kossey's Place, on Main Street, Elk Point.

Kossey's Place deals in new and used household furnishings - everything from chesterfield suites to dining room tables to the dishes to put on them. The doors opened during Christmas Extravaganza, December 2, and there is already a good lineup of furnishings on hand.

The Kossey brothers' experience in the furniture business comes from their volunteer work with St. Paul's Next to New Store, where they worked with the furniture department. Ian has retail experience from two years at St. Paul Co-op, and Melanie from working in Golden Loaf Bakery, owned by her parents, Sandra and Ed Poulin. Shane has trained as an electrician, and plans to start up an electrical business as well, in the new year.

Kossey's Place is located in the former review store building.

NEW ENTREPRENEURS - Shane (left) and Ian Kossey, along with Shane's wife Melanie, have opened a new and used household furnishings store on Main Street, Elk Point.

New business is a homecoming

Andy and Carol Mikitka are among the many Albertans whose jobs literally disappeared due to provincial government restructuring. Carol lost her post with Alberta Transportation when the St. Paul office closed in June 1993, and Andy's 19 years with the Alberta Liquor Control Board, 11 of those as the Elk Point ALCB manager, ended with the privatization of liquor stores a year ago.

After a move to St. Paul and a time when Carol found employment in Edmonton, the Mikitkas decided to go into business together. On December 5, they opened the Elk Point Liquor Store in the previous ALCB premises, and both say they are glad to be back.

The Mikitkas offer a wide range of products, and are open to suggestions on their wine selection. They will also special order to the client's wishes. Permits are available, and the Mikitkas plan to add a beer cooler to their premises in the spring.

They also plan to move back to Elk Point when they sell their home in St. Paul, and say that "the kids can hardly wait" for that time.

The Mikitkas are planning their grand opening for January 6 and 7, and will have draws, door prizes and specials for that occasion.

ANDY AND CAROL MIKITKA - launched their new Liquor Store on December 5, in the same premises Andy managed for 11 years prior to ALCB privatization.

Oilpatch Anniversary

A bit of Leeway history...

By Bob Lee

Leeway Heavy Oil Ltd. has been in operation in the Elk Point area for the past 10 years. When Douglas Lee moved to Elk Point, he brought with him seven years of oil well servicing experience, two of those directly related to heavy oil production.

This experience was put to use immediately as Leeway's Flushby was rigged with pulling capabilities conducive to industry requirements. The first slant design, fully certified derrick, was spearheaded by Leeway and remains the most popular configuration today.

Leeway operates flushby rigs, pressure and vacuum trucks including sand bailers, pump to surface and miscellaneous rental tools.

The company headquarters are at Elk Point and in excess of 94 percent of all business is conducted in the County of St. Paul. Leeway has an excellent safety record which is a direct result of our commitment to responsible work and business ethics. We approach the future with integrity, optimism and look forward to growing with the community.

Thanks to our employees, customers and suppliers for 10 years of devotion and service.

Peace & JOY

Merry Christmas from the Elk Point Community Choir

Elk Point Community Choir presented their seasonal gift of music to two capacity crowds last week, with both the Wednesday and Friday concerts much enjoyed by all who attended.

The choir presented three sets of numbers, with the first made up of "Born 'Neath A Star," "Carol Of The Newborn King," with Heather Krupa on flute, "Bring A Little Jingle," and an a capella version of "Whisper! Whisper!" which featured solos by Barb Buryn and Garry Townsend.

Mathilda Furger was accompanied by Udo Mueller on piano and in part of the vocals in her soaring multilingual performance of Franz Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The audience was then invited to join in as Mabel Gottenbos, Jean and Ken Vickery, Pat and Clem Johnson and Sheri and Chris Johnson, accompanied by Barb Buryn, led a sing-along of two favorite carols, "Joy To The World" and "Silent Night."

The entire choir returned to their places with "Angels We Have Heard on High," "Little One, Tiny One," which was accompanied by Laurie Keichinger on flute and Linda Peters on piano, and a ringing rendition of "The Carol Of The Bells." "Dona Nobis Pacem" is one of their new numbers, and is a 16th century canon which has only three words, meaning "give us peace," sung so that voices overlapped and echoed for a stunning effect. The final number prior to a brief intermission was "Sing A Joyful Alleluia," with accompaniment by Udo Mueller on conga drum, Tom Rae on cabasa and Barb Buryn on piano.

The next number was billed as a duet, but actually featured five performers. Udo and Emily Mueller were the vocalists for a number giving very different views of winter, entitled "The Snow's Gotta Go!" John Bennett accompanied on piano, while Carol Babcock and Randall Krys were the perfect pantomimists, portraying a housebound couple who wished winter would just hurry up and get over.

"Tiny Little Baby" was performed by a quartet made up of Chris Johnson, Archie Palinka, Garry Townsend and Don Conrad, accompanied by Loree Laramée. They were followed by another quartet, this time Sheri Johnson, soloist Emily Mueller, Linda Peters and Heather Krupa, who sang "Child In A Manger," with Udo Mueller accompanying on piano and Don Buryn playing cabasa. Ms Krupa added a conga rhythm.

The final set from the choir started with a "Christmas Lullaby," with Linda Peters on piano. "No Well, No Well!" added a lighthearted note, accompanied by Barb Buryn. Linda Peters was the pianist for the French carol, "He Is Born," and flutist Heather Krupa added a special touch to the old favorite, "Away In A Manger." Mrs. Peters also accompanied "Sing We Now Of Christmas," which featured Heather Krupa on conga and Udo Mueller on tambourine.

The concert drew to a close with an encore, a marvelous a capella version of "Look At That Star!" with solos by Udo

Mueller and Rita Sanregret.

The choir is directed by Don Buryn, and Deanna Easthope provided piano accompaniment except where otherwise noted. Page turner was Patricia Keichinger.

Singers were: Norma Berg, Iryne Buck, Heather Krupa, Cheryl Kurash, Doreen Youngmans, Hollie Blize, Lena Stepa, Cindy Amalia, Michele Ducek, Brenda Bintz, Myrna Fedorus, Lillian Ewasiuk, Louise Kurash, Edith Mitchell, Mabel Gottenbos, Sheri Johnson, Emily Mueller, Ellen

Elk Point hosts Novice tourney

Elk Point's two Novice hockey teams hosted six visiting squads in the weekend's tournament, and wound up winning one and coming second in the other final games.

Elk Point #1 won the B Side with an 11-2 victory over Bonnyville. Curtis Salt scored five for the home team, while George Danyluk and Mark Ference each racked up 3 goals and 2 assists. Two assists apiece came from Brandon Wittmack, Greg Kozicky and Robert Lawrence.

Elk Point #2 made a strong comeback in the A Side final, but lost to Two Hills Eagles by a single point in a 5-4 game. Colton Hoffman scored all four for Elk Point, with TC Quinney getting all four assists, Kyle Nielsen two and Justin Schatz one.

Two other teams from Bonnyville and one each from St. Paul and Saddle Lake also took part in the tournament.

A SIDE RUNNERS UP - were the Elk Point #2 squad, coached by Murry Neilsen and Lucien Hoffman.

TOURNAMENT WINNERS - Two Hills Eagles topped the 8-team Elk Point Novice Tournament this weekend with an A Side win.

Tale of a pioneer Christmas

By Billie Milholland

Before World War I, we were the first family to move into a remote district full of bachelors. Many of the men on the homesteads around us had wives or sweethearts somewhere, women who would come out one day to join them in their toil.

Every Saturday the bachelors would gather at the little store by the ferry to mail off their homesick letters. Then they would buy moonshine and sit on packing boxes by the big stove and brag about the progress on their spreads.

Auntie Elspeth told Mama not to let us go to the ferry store on Saturdays. She imagined the language there, relaxed by alcohol and heated by the close proximity of fellow sufferers would be riper than children or ladies should be required to tolerate.

They were, after all, immigrants, those men from goodness-knows-where. Those men from foreign places.

But as Christmas neared and we prepared to celebrate without family and friends, Mama suggested to Papa that we invite the bachelors to our place for Christmas dinner.

"What can you be thinking?" Aunt Elspeth was aghast. "Of course you must invite that poor Mr. Greenwood, of late from London town. He would know how to be a proper guest." Aunt Elspeth had been married to an Englishman, briefly, and believed the English to be the sole guardians of civilization.

"But the others?" Aunt's lips squeezed together with disapproval.

"If we invite one, we invite them all." Papa always stood up to his sister.

"Well, let it be on your head, then, when they come in stinking of the barn and worse and hardly speaking English." Aunt Elspeth always took the last word.

On Christmas day, Aunt Elspeth retired to her room before the men were due to appear. She didn't want to disturb her sensibilities by observing the rude arrival of the foreigners. It would be hard enough for her to endure a meal at the same table.

Arne Johansson was the first to come. He was scrubbed and rubbed until he glistened and his shy blue eyes glowed with excitement as he handed Mama some beautiful sugar cookies shaped like angels and wrapped in a clean and ironed handkerchief. He also gave her the angel cookie cutter he had cleverly fashioned from a tin can. He could speak a little English and we were charmed by his Yahs and Yiminies.

Lazer Chomlak and his brother John came next, wrapped in big, colorful coats with fur on the inside. Only John spoke English but Lazer had a cheery red face and a massive smile and his teeth shone like pearl buttons when he handed Mama the biggest, roundest loaf of bread we had ever seen.

The German was next, followed by the mountain man with a massive beard and finally the Polish fellow who lived in a hole in the river bank. The only one left to come was Aunt Elspeth's Englishman.

We were enchanted. Each man had gone to great trouble to wash and press themselves and to bring something wonderful for our Christmas meal.

Cyril Greenwood was late for the meal and Papa directed us to begin in spite of Aunt Elspeth's demands that a search party be sent out into the winter night.

Papa further irritated his sister by inviting each man in turn to offer up grace, which they did, each fervently in his own language, followed by a hearty "Amen" from the rest of us.

Just as Ule Hohner, the German, had rendered his deep bass grace, the door rattled and burst open and Aunt Elspeth's Englishman fell into the room.

"Bloody cold, this country." He muttered as he sat up and squinted at us. Then he looked with alarm at the liquid leaking from a little tin bottle he had dropped. He swiftly bent his head to the floor and licked up what was spilled.

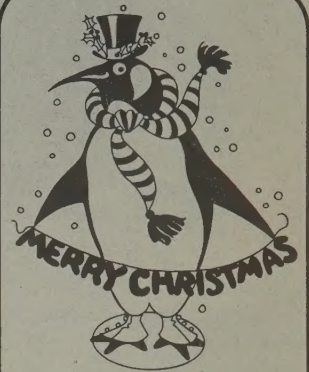

Everyone at the table stared at him without speaking as he lurched to his feet and dangled a long, bulging woolen stocking over Aunt Elspeth's head.

"The pudding, ma lady."

And sure enough, it was a plum pudding stuffed in there, a bit undercooked but very pretty with Mama's berry syrup poured over it. What was in the tin bottle was to be used to set the pudding alight but before Aunt Elspeth retired to her room with one of her spells she told Mr. Greenwood that a flaming was not necessary.

Mama insisted that it was, but she burnt the pudding so royally that no one could eat it. Mr. Greenwood didn't mind. He had fallen asleep on the floor by the stove with one bare foot waiting for the pudding sock to dry by the fire.

Christmas: What is its message?

By Rev. Norman Hartley
Elk Point United Church

The trappings of a Canadian Christmas are all around us. The decorations, the music, the hustle and bustle in the stores and malls. But just what is the message that is being transmitted by all this activity?

In this modern world it is becoming more and more difficult to discern the presence of God in the activities of individual human beings; and yet, there are positive signs of "Peace on Earth." The peace efforts in the Middle East after decades of hostilities; the demise of the Iron Curtain; and the slowly but steadily improving relationships between China and the rest of the world.

During this celebration of the birth of Christ may each one of us remember that the heart of Christian relationships and the proven way to successful living is, to "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

The congregation of Elk Point United Church wishes everyone a Christmas of "Peace on Earth," especially among family and friends, and a New Year filled with love for all our neighbors.

BMW MONARCH

A Christmas message

By Pastor Jim MacLellan
Elk Point Baptist Church

How do we get to know one another? How did you get to know your best friend — your spouse — your _____? How does all this fall into place? Most of us know one another by observing, listening, asking questions, spending time with one another, and so on.

How does one get to know an infinite being like God — God, the Creator, the absolutely perfect, complete and self-sufficient Being of the eternal God? Sounds impossible, doesn't it? Guess what — it is!

No one can know God unless God allows Himself to be known.

No one can know God unless God allows himself to be known. There's not a spiritual journey long enough. There's not a book big enough. There's not a mind smart enough. The first obstacle in getting to know a self-existent Creator God is recognized in the fact that He must initiate revelation. There is not a person in history or on this planet that can know God without His permission. Not one! Note what the Bible says, "In the same way no one knows the thoughts of God... The man without the Spirit does not accept the things that come from the Spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him and he cannot understand them, because they are spiritually discerned." - 1Cor 2:11, 14

When we launch out on intellectual pursuits of God we can only arrive in a pit of confusion and contradiction. Let me give you an example.

As we look at ourselves we see created beings who have a conscience. We all know right from wrong. Some of you might say, "There is no right and wrong." Sorry! You just created one by saying that... perhaps there's other absolutes too? The conscience of mankind, the experience of billions of religious people dictate the reality that the Creator must be also a perfect, moral, Being.

But as we look around us we see a huge contradiction. We see imperfection, failure, and violations of any reasonable code. As we examine the matter closely we see another huge contradiction. This "Perfect Being" seems to operate with impartiality. Whether mankind is righteous or wicked, every one of us enjoys rain, sunshine, seasons, air to breathe, and the list goes on.

How can a perfect God ignore with indifference the violations of the people?

Here's the problem: How can a Perfect God ignore with indifference the violations of the people? Will this God call us to account? If He doesn't He'll just cease to be perfect, won't He? A perfect God must be just. A just God wouldn't ignore injustice, would He?

If you've stuck with me this long... hang in. Merry Christmas! Yes, Merry Christmas! This is the "Reason for the season." Jesus came as the "Word." the revelation of God to mankind, to answer apparent contradictions just like this. Within the Person, the work and the words of Christ, this answer and a hundred others are found. Jesus came as the Answer Man. God took the initiation to send to the world the personification of answers.

The Answer Man has come.

By the way? How can a just God ignore (so to speak) injustice? He can't! He must judge it. But note the answer that Jesus gives: "For God so loved the world that He gave His one and only Son, that whoever believes in Him shall not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send His Son into the world to condemn the world, but to save the world through Him." - John 3: 16-17

That's not my answer! That's right from the Answer Man. Won't you believe in Him today? "How might that happen," you ask. Jesus again gives us the answer. In a story of two men, Jesus recounted the prayer of one man. This man cried out to God and said, "God, have mercy on me, a sinner." The Answer Man stated, "This man when home justified." (See Luke 18:10ff)

Have a Merry Christmas... the Answer Man has come!

What's News at the Library?

A Little Something In Tune With the Season

By Michele Duczek
Librarian

The Week Before Christmas

Inspired by Clement C. Moore

"Twas the week before Christmas and all through the library

Everything was decorated, it looked very merry.

The books were all shelved, each in its place,

The videos were kept in their usual space.

The children all enjoyed our Christmas party

Complete with St. Nick who laughed oh so hearty.

Volunteers at the circ desk and I in my office

Were going through a list for overdue notice,

When out in the parking lot there arose such a noise,

Unflappable librarian lost all her poise.

Out of the office I flew like the flash,

Setting world record for the 100 metre dash.

The glow of the streetlight on the old trampled snow

Looked very ordinary, if you must know,

When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,

But a miniature bookmobile not pulled by reindeer;

With a little old driver, who looked somewhat screwy,

I knew all at once that it was Melvil Dewey.

More rapid than airplanes, his horses they came,

And he whistled and shouted and called them by name:

Now Generalities, Philosophy, Religion, Social Sciences!

On, Language, Pure Science, Technology and the Arts!

Don't forget Literature and, of course, good old History!

We've come just in time to hear a good story!

As all good visitors that come in the door,

Take off their boots, keep the snow off the floor,

So up the walkway ten hors-es came on

With bags full of books and a librarian.

And then in an instant, I heard in the entry

Melvil and horses coming to see me.

I took a deep breath and sat in my chair,

As Melvil arrived with a most cheery air.

He was dressed all in tweed from his head to his toe,

And his clothes were dusted with a sprinkling of snow;

A bundle of books he slung over his shoulder,

Kept all in place by a strong leather holder.

His specs how they twinkled! no dimples so merry!

His cheeks were so pale, no sun in library!

His sensible mouth had a smile oh, so sweet,

And the hair on his head

was thinning, but neat.

A ballpoint pen nestled behind his right ear,

And leaked ink decorated his cheek like a tear.

He had a round face and an infectious laugh

That quickly affected all of my staff.

We giggled and chortled, smiled and guffawed

Melvil was happy we were not overawed.

A nod of his head to all volunteers,

Was quickly met with very loud cheers;

He spoke not a word, but went straight to his work,

Catalogued all books; then turned with a jerk,

And sorting all cards by the date they were due,

Cleaned up the circ desk,

my office too.

He put on his boots and gathered all of his team,

Left our parking lot in a big cloud of steam.

But I heard him shout, all of Elk Point did too,

"Christmas is classified under three nine four point two (394.2)!"

Great excitement took hold of all ticket buyers Wednesday night as the Elk Point and District Red Cross picked the winning names in their long anticipated raffle. The exquisitely crafted quilt was won by Katie Leskiw of St. Paul, while Lillian Poitras of Dewberry won the afghan and Ed O'Kane of Elk Point won the Quillo.

All but 21 of the thousand raffle tickets sold, netting the Red Cross the sum of $979 to be used to help those in need. Sincere thanks go out to all those who sold and bought tickets, and to those who created the raffle prizes.

IN MEMORIAM

BUCHARSKI, Mike

In loving memory of Mike Bucharski who passed away December 31, 1993. Husband, Father, Grandfather.

In a quiet country graveyard Where the gentle breezes blow, Lies the one we loved and lost one year ago.

His resting place we visit And put flowers there with care But no one knows the heartache As we turn and leave him there. We think of him in silence And often speak his name But all we have is memories And his picture in a frame.

Dad, missed and always remembered by Katie and Family.

ANDRISHAK, Joanne

In loving memory of our dear and beloved mother and wife, Joanne, who passed away December 22, 1991, after a courageous battle with cancer.

A million times we've missed you, A million times we've cried, If love could have saved you You never would have died.

If we could have one lifetime wish One dream that could come true We'd pray to God with all our hearts

For yesterday and YOU!

Forever loved and so very sadly missed by your loving daughter Patricia and your husband Peter.

Heinsburg Community School hosts family Christmas supper

The Heinsburg Community School once again held their annual Christmas supper and concert on Thursday, December 8 in the Heinsburg Community School gym.

Marie Zayac and the Class of '95 prepared a delicious turkey supper with all the trimmings for the 175 guests in attendance. Supper was followed by a family Christmas concert with Laverne Wilson as Master of Ceremonies.

Daleen Gunderson and Shannon Leskiw (hidden talent we didn't know we had) opened the concert with an upbeat rendition of "Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer" and then Daleen went solo and sang "So It's Crying Time Again." The Dewberry Choir followed with three Christmas carols. Mark Kozak entertained everyone playing the bagpipes.

Audrey Rainey sang "Mary's Boy Child" and then did a Christmas reading. Nathon Brown, a new talent, sang "O Happy Day" and "Give Me Joy." Charlie Thomson captivated everyone's attention with a number trick. Angie Durocher, another new talent, sang "What About Me?"

Then our very special guest, Santa Claus, arrived with a big bag of treats and was eagerly greeted by some very excited children. The concert closed with the Dewberry Choir leading a sing-a-long of Christmas carols and the audience joining in.

Our sincere thanks to all of those who participated in making the evening a special family Christmas: The Grad Class of '95 for preparing the meal; the concert guests; the decorating committee of staff and students; Master of Ceremonies Laverne Wilson; everyone who came out and made the evening a special occasion; Sherry Young and CJ Best for capturing the evening on video and with photos; and of course, Santa Claus.

Principal Lorne Young and the staff and students of Heinsburg Community School would like to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and best wishes in the New Year.
